4. The lawful basis on which we use this information

Most data will be processed under Article 6 of the UK General Data Protection Regulation (UK GDPR) on the basis that:

- processing is necessary for the performance of a contract to which the member of staff is party or in order to take steps at the request of the data subject prior to entering into a contract
- or

- processing is necessary for compliance with a legal obligation to which we are subject or
- processing is necessary for the performance of a task carried out in the public interest or in the exercise of official authority vested in the controller.

We may also process staff personal data in situations where:

- processing is necessary in order to protect the vital interests of the member of staff or
- the member of staff has given consent to the processing of their personal data for one or more specific purposes.

Where consent has been obtained to use your personal data, this consent can be withdrawn at any time. This will be made clear when we ask for consent and we will explain how consent can be withdrawn.

Occasionally, where the processing is not part of our performing tasks as a public authority, we may process data under the lawful basis that it is in our legitimate interests or the legitimate interests of a third party to do so. In these circumstances we would be using the data in a way that would be reasonably expected by the member of staff concerned and the processing will have a minimal privacy impact or there will be a compelling justification for the processing.

There may be more than one ground which justifies our use of a particular category of data.

If we need to process any special category data under Article 9 of the UK GDPR which is of a more sensitive nature, we will only do so if we have a lawful basis to do so under Paragraph 2 of Article 9 of the UK GDPR.

No decisions are made by the school through automated decision making (including profiling).

5. Collecting staff information

The majority of staff information collected is obtained directly from the member of staff concerned either as part of the recruitment process or upon their commencement of employment via initial application and payroll paperwork.

Whilst most of the information you provide to us is mandatory, some of it is provided to us on a voluntary basis. In order to comply with the UK General Data Protection Regulation, we will inform you whether you are required to provide certain information to us or if you have a choice in this.

We may also hold data about staff which has been provided by another party, such as a local authority, a government department or agency, a police force, court of law or tribunal.
